RESCUE ONE MAN FROM MINE; TWO BODIES FOUND

Five Men Are Reported To Have Escaped
Uninjured

ELEVEN YET ENTOMBED

Rescue Teams Report That
Roof of The Mine
Caved In

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Feb. 21 (INS).—Two mine rescue teams early today rescued one man alive and removed two bodies from the Kinlock Mine of the Valley Camp Coal Company, near here, where 14 men were entombed in an explosion last night.

Five men were reported to have escaped uninjured. Eleven men were said to be still entombed a mile and a half from the entrance to the shaft.

One of the dead men was identified as John Pool, miner. The other body and the man rescued alive had not been identified.

The rescue teams reported the live man and the two bodies were a mile and a half from the entrance to the shaft. They said the roof of the mine had caved in.

The trapped miners with the five who reached safety, went into the workings, a drift mine, shortly after three o'clock yesterday afternoon. According to company officials the 15 comprise the entire crew at work during the night hours. They were due to leave the mine about midnight. Shortly after 10 o'clock the five men rushed to the surface and reported that their companions had been trapped.

The story of the five gave little information to mine officials, excepting that something had happened and the others had been trapped. A short time later when a call was sent to the Bureau of Mines, company officials said that fire was spreading through the workings. It was reported that heavy smoke was pouring from the entrance to the shaft and that all attempts they had made to enter the mine had proved futile.

When the rescue teams were preparing to enter there was nothing to show that there was fire in the mine. Two of the teams were immediately sent below and another held in readiness on the surface to prepare for any emergency or to relieve their fellow workers.

The Kinlock Mine is located in the Vandergrift Road, one mile above New Kensington. It is one of the largest in the New Kensington district and has been operating on a non-union basis since before Christmas. Usually there is a large number of men working on the grounds and in the mine, which is surrounded by a stockade and guarded by deputy sheriffs.

Unlike most mine disasters there was no crowd gathered about the entrance to the shaft after word of the blast had spread. The trapped miners are all imported non-union men who have been living on the mine property under guard since before Christmas when the mine opened under "open-shop" conditions.

Other persons who might have been drawn as witnesses under usual conditions were barred by the stockade. Union miners were evicted some time ago and now are living in barracks outside mine property.

Coal and iron police, State highway patrolmen and deputy sheriffs, guarded the property and kept everyone outside the barricade excepting rescue workers and mine employees.

Mine officials refused to make any statement regarding the explosion or the men entombed and one official went as far as to deny there had been trouble.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 21 (INS).—The magic of radio is to bring about a reunion between a brother and a sister lost to each other for twenty-eight years.

On the death of her mother here recently, Mrs. Allen Shaffner, of Harrisburg, appealed to L. E. Elicker, a neighbor who owns an amateur sending station, to aid her in a search for the long lost brother. Elicker learned from Mrs. Shaffner that her brother, Fillmore Grunden, had once lived in Newark, and he sent a message to a Brooklyn station, which was relayed to Newark. The brother was located, and wired to his sister within an hour. Now he's coming here on a visit with his family.

MRS. CYRUS E. SMITH DIES AT HULMEVILLE

Deceased Had Long Been A Resident of That Borough

FUNERAL ON THURSDAY

HULMEVILLE, Feb. 21.—Mrs. Cyrus E. Smith, a well-known and highly-respected resident of Hulmeville, died at her home on Bellevue avenue yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Smith, who before her marriage was Miss Margaret A. Stradling, had been ill for the past three months. A small portion of that period had been spent in the Samaritan Hospital, Philadelphia, but a few weeks ago she returned to her home here, and her recovery was expected. A change in her condition was noted on Saturday and death occurred early Monday afternoon.

Besides her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Thomas B. Longhurst, of Hulmeville, and a sister, Mrs. Deborah Flowers, Hulmeville, survive. Mrs. Smith was born in Oxford Valley, and had resided here since her marriage 35 years ago.

The deceased was a member of the Neshaminy M. E. Church, and the Wild Rose Rebekah Lodge, Hulmeville. She was also a member and a faithful attendant of the Sunday School connected with the church with which she was affiliated.

The funeral service, to which relatives and friends and all organizations with which she was connected are invited, will be held from her late residence, on Thursday afternoon at two o'clock. The Rev. Walter H. Canon, pastor of the Methodist Church, will officiate. Burial will be made in Beechwood Cemetery.

Sorority Girls Will Give Dance Tonight

All roads lead to Saint Mark's Hall this evening, when a Washington's Birthday dance will be given by the "Iota Beta Delta" Sorority for the benefit of Saint Mark's Church.

The Sorority girls expect a large crowd to attend their initial attempt as terpelchorean promoters. The early sale of tickets would seem to indicate that their expectations will be realized. The large auditorium is beautifully decorated in a red, white and blue ensemble which is harmoniously blended with electric lights of a softer hue.

The whole effect thus produced is one of entrancing beauty. The girls have secured "Al" Jackson and his nationally known Melody Boys to furnish the "jazz" for the evening. The Sorority girls in natty costumes will serve refreshments to the assembled dancers.

HEALTH CLINIC CLOSED

The child health clinic will be dispensed with tomorrow, owing to the holiday, Washington's Birthday. On Wednesday afternoon, February 29th, the clinic will be resumed between the hours of two and four o'clock.

JOSEPH R. GRUNDY STRESSES TARIFF AS THE DOMINANT ISSUE IN COMING PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN

Manufacturers' Head Warns of Free Trade Victories Won by False Arguments — Sounds A Ringing Call to Arms to All Protectionists — Free Trade Never Wins Fairly, He Says.

A call to the manufacturing and business interests to prepare for the approaching Presidential election was sounded yesterday by President Joseph R. Grundy, at the eighteenth annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association, held in the Manufacturers' Club, Philadelphia.

He stressed the tariff as unquestionably to be the dominant issue of the campaign.

"There is one thing that should give every voter the deepest concern, and that is whether we are going to continue to do our own work and protect our home market for the products of our own labor."

"We have this early learned that the tariff is to be an issue, if not the issue of the 1928 campaign. In the brief debate over the McMaster Resolution for immediate reduction of the tariff, which the Senate sent to the House, we saw a decisive antagonism to the tariff schedules under which we are operating. In the Emergency Tariff Law, as well as the general law of 1922, the farmers of our country were well protected, both directly and indirectly, and yet the claim is made that the farmer has not been so well protected as the manufacturer."

Mr. Grundy asserted that since 1922 "we have operated under a tariff that has brought prosperity to all."

He dwelt upon the reduction of the National Debt, remarking that only a little more than a decade ago our National Debt was about a billion dollars. At its peak, following the great World War, it was some $26,000,000,000, and every year since we have reduced it by over a billion of dollars annually, a sum each year about as large as our entire debt preceding the war. Not only have we reduced our debt by a billion a year, but we have increased our savings, our insurance and our individual and general wealth by billions more.

"Shall we vote," he asked, "and use our influence to have other vote, for the candidate who will approve a lower, or higher tariff? Is this not the paramount question to be answered this year? And will our vote for President not be accompanied by a similar vote for Senator and Member of Congress. Do we want the prosperity we have enjoyed for seven years to be continued and increased, or do we want adversity to come in its place?"

CELTICS CAPTURE GAME

Last night in Beaver Hall the Celtics defeated the Immaculata in a fast and exciting screen contest by the score of 33 to 28. The Immaculata took the floor minus two of their star players, Fallon and Kelly, but put up a desperate battle despite this handicap. The game was lost in the last few minutes of play.

The refereeing of Daniel Dugan is a great improvement over what has been experienced in this line of work on the Beaver floor. Dugan had the game under control at all times.

Young Men's Association has withdrawn from the League and it is stated by the League officials that they give as a reason that the playing was entirely too rough. This leaves six teams to finish the season, which will end March 14th. The clubs finishing first and second in this half will compete for the championship due to the fact that the Y. M. A. boys won the first half.

St. Ann's, last night, lost to Leedom's by the score of 22 to 21. The contest was fast and interesting.

Thursday night the A. O. H. will play the Celtic and the K. of C. will play the Immaculata.

County To Annex Site For Court House Property

DOYLESTOWN, Feb. 21.—At the opening of the February term of criminal court yesterday when the Grand Jury convened, the County Solicitor presented to the Court for the action of the Grand Jury, a proposal asking for the annexation of a tract of land contiguous to the present Court House site, to be used some time in the future for additional quarters for the county courts and county offices.

The tract includes several properties. The Ross building, housing a law firm, the P. R. T. trolley waiting room and a building owned by Dr. Harry C. Lehman are included in the tract desired.

The action has been contemplated for the past twenty years. The Grand Jury will be presented with the facts next Thursday morning. Two grand juries must sanction the annexation before the properties can be taken by the county. Rapid growth of the county business in the courts and otherwise, has forced the Board of County Commissioners to take action which has long been contemplated.

It is not proposed to destroy the present buildings in the near future, or perhaps for many years to come, but they will be utilized for county purposes, or would be rented as the needs of the county require.

William Ricketts, of Bristol: Charge, aggravated assault and battery; juvenile court case; defendant discharged into custody of mother.

DOYLESTOWN, Feb. 21.—Three defendants were given penitentiary sentences, three were sent to the Bucks County Prison, two paroles were granted and a juvenile case was disposed of yesterday at the opening of the February term of criminal court of Bucks county before Judge William C. Ryan.

John Eveland, of New Hope, who has been before the Quarter Sessions Court in Bucks County on five different occasions during the past fifteen years, and who has served time in the penitentiary, reformatory and county prison, was sentenced yesterday to serve not less than five nor more than ten years in the Eastern State Penitentiary and to pay a fine of $100 and costs. He pleaded guilty to stealing an automobile from Joseph Tiernan, of New Hope. Eveland, hardened from his many years of criminal activity, simply smiled when sentence was pronounced.

H. E. Jackson and Aversor Terry, tramps, pleaded guilty yesterday to malicious mischief. They boarded a box car on a freight train at Jersey City several weeks ago and when the train arrived in the Morrisville yards they started a fire on the floor of the car to keep warm, resulting in a hole being burned in the floor. Judge Ryan sentenced them to serve three months in the Bucks County Prison.

John Kelly, of Buckingham Township, pleaded guilty yesterday to the theft of a number of radiators belonging to Russell Roberts, Penn's Park. He was sentenced to not less than nine nor more than 18 months in the Bucks County Prison. The radiators stolen by Kelly were sold to a Trenton junk dealer.

Harry Howard, 18, and George Dougherty, 21, both of Yardley, applied to the Court for paroles yesterday. They were both sentenced on August 1, 1927, to not less than six months nor more than one year in the Bucks County Prison for the theft of fireworks and miscellaneous articles from the store of Watson P. Church, Washington Crossing. After hearing testimony, Judge Ryan released both youths on probation for a period of one year, naming Deputy Sheriff Horace E. Gwinner as probation officer.

Both youths had been before the Court on a previous occasion. In 1924, Howard was before Judge Reno on a larceny charge and was placed on probation for three years. Dougherty was before the court for stealing pencils and was placed on probation for three years. Both young men were warned that a severe sentence would be imposed upon them if they got into court again.

William Ricketts, 13, colored, of Bristol, was before Judge Ryan yesterday. He was charged by Clifford Russo, of Bristol, with aggravated assault and battery. Russo testified that Ricketts jumped on him and kicked him in the face while he had roller skates on his feet. The altercation started, it was testified, in an argument concerning a can of oil. Judge Ryan directed that Ricketts be turned over into the custody of his mother.

When a man exclaims that he is a free man he speaks in particularities rather than in generalities. In the United States all men are free in so far as they can not be bought and sold as chattels or slaves and to the extent that they can hold public office and possess the elective franchise.

It is right and proper for men to seek and glory in freedom, but absolute liberty is incompatible with civilization. Every law takes away a liberty, and congress, legislatures and municipal governments are enacting new laws momentarily. Customs are laws which cannot be violated with impunity. Employers and employees are masters of each other. Men who take unto themselves wives and acquire progeny are not at liberty to do and act as personal wishes dictate. No man is at liberty to operate his automobile as he will because there are traffic rules, the rights of others and statutes to be observed. But to continue in this manner might convince us that there is no freedom, that the black slave had more freedom than our first citizens.

But there are two ways of looking upon the restrictions of civilization. One is that every restriction is a denial of an inalienable right of the individual. The other is that every restriction liberates each individual from the trespassing of other individuals. Legislation is a concomitant of civilization. We enact, enforce and obey laws not for our restriction but for our protection.

We have not outgrown the proverb "one man's rights end where another's begin."

TRAFFIC PROBLEMS

The most difficult problem with which state and local governments must deal in this day is that of traffic. The principal factors of this problem are the automobile and motor truck, and the problem becomes more difficult of solution as the uses for gasoline vehicles are multiplied.

To say that the traffic problem is a purely urban one is a mistake. The State highway departments, as well as city governments, must deal with parking, speeding, congestion, traffic control and road construction. The lion's share of county budgets is also claimed by the highway department of most county administrations.

There is constant proof that this matter is increasing in seriousness for the cities and states. There will be 27,000,000 automobiles in the United States in another half decade, according to authoritative estimates. That means more and wider thoroughfares and improved methods both in and out of the cities.

Past experience should have taught both public and government that it is dangerous and costly to wait until traffic conditions become intolerable and then rush blindly in to remedy them.

The number of automobiles and trucks on the roads today surely justifies exhaustive study of probable traffic requirements and the taking of necessary steps to anticipate those future needs. Let those administrations which criticize their predecessors for lack of foresight make it impossible for their successors to find the same fault with them.

Every day is pay day for the man who enjoys his job.

Choose your enemies as wisely as you do your friends.

COST OF NAVY PROGRAM MOUNTS DAILY

The Administration's navy plan, which startled Congress and the world at large only a few weeks ago as a $700,000,000 project, has developed so many additions and ramifications that observers, taking all facts into consideration, figure the next decade's naval expenses at $7,000,000,000 at least under the present program.

In a little more than a month the Navy Department itself, through its officers on the witness stand, has doubled its original estimate. New plans and side lights have been put forward with such astounding rapidity that the department has made no attempt at a total cost estimate.

Additions to the original $700,000,000 proposal which indicate the $7,000,000,000 total may be listed roughly as follows:

(1) More actual building, outlined by Secretary Wilson, bringing the cost of construction to $749,000,000 for the five-year program.

(2) Testimony of Admiral Hughes that this figure should be raised to $1,000,000,000 for "adequate security."

(3) Twenty thousand more men and 825 officers for twenty-five new cruisers alone.

(4) One thousand four hundred and ninety more planes, costing $9,667,100 and requiring 2,330 officers and men.

Also 4,000 men and 225 officers for non-aviation personnel of five air-craft carriers.

(5) Additional yards and other shore facilities, as yet not mentioned in testimony, to cost untold millions.

(6) Battleship replacements at $100,000,000 a year, beginning in 1931, as provided in Washington Treaty.

(7) Maintenance cost (at present size, without additions) of about $325,000,000 a year.

(8) Private statement of Chairman Madden (R. Ill.) of the House Appropriations Committee that Navy Department estimates consistently must be boosted 25 per cent. when the United States actually pays the bills.—New York World, Jan. 31, 1928.—(Adv.)

BEWARE OF MARRIED MEN BY ARLINE DE HAAS

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures Inc.
"BEWARE OF MARRIED MEN," starring Irene Rich, is a Warner Bros. picture of this novel.

SYNOPSIS
Myra Martin, secretary to Leonard Gilbert, a divorce lawyer to whom she is engaged, learns that her sister, Helene, is infatuated with Huntley Sheldon, whose wife, Nita, is divorcing him. But Helene elopes with Ralph Naylor and returns to find that Sheldon, so she believes, has, on her account, a hold over Myra. Angry, she goes to Sheldon's apartment to confront him. But Gilbert arrives and then Myra and Sheldon hide each one as the other arrives and finally Myra as Nita arrives and begins a search for evidence. Helene and Myra, trying to escape, meet in the room where Gilbert is hidden in a closet.

"We'd better go back into your room," Myra advised. "She's certain to take this one next."
"But we can't get out of there any better than here," Helene wailed.

"Be quiet. We've got to chance it, anyhow," Myra took her sister's hand and gently opened the door. They both looked at them cautiously, and saw nothing but the usual furniture, windows, and the closet door that was tightly closed. Gilbert was holding on to that closet door as though his life depended on it. He was almost afraid to breathe, and the closet was suffocating, even with the little gratings that provided ventilation—or so-called ventilation. Sitting here alone in this darkness made him feel like a small child who was being punished. He listened.

"Oh, Helene, how could you be so careless!" Myra scolded. "But there's no use crying over spilled milk. We've got to find that bag before Nita Sheldon does."
"But how, Myra?" Helene wailed. "I can't go back to that house."
"Wait, I've an idea," Myra took her sister's arm and headed back towards the apartment. "It may work."

CHAPTER XVII
In Sheldon's apartment the search was still going on. Sheldon was, by this time, in such a dazed condition that he trailed after his wife and Botts, scarcely knowing what to expect. No one had been found in the last room searched, although that was scarcely to be expected, Sheldon reminded himself, for it was the one room in which, to his knowledge, he had hidden no one. And now there was only the remaining room to be searched. If they weren't in there, well, he'd believe that he had dreamed the entire thing.

Gilbert for his part waited anxiously for the departure of the two women he had heard whispering. He could hear their plans for escape, and he felt a sensation of relief when he heard them open the door. Cautiously he crept from his hiding place, wondering where Mrs. Sheldon was searching now.

He crept over to the door of the room in which he had been first placed and listened. No one there. They had searched that room, anyhow. He'd try the other door.

He stole softly across the carpet and bent down, listening for voices.

He couldn't hear a sound in that room. Where were they all, anyhow. Suddenly, without warning, the door leading from the hallway into his room burst open. There stood Nita, Botts and Sheldon. Gilbert jumped to his feet, his face red, a guilty look in his eyes. He was caught—trapped. An excuse! He must have an excuse.

"What! You here! What are you doing in my husband's apartment?" Nita Sheldon exclaimed, staring at Gilbert.

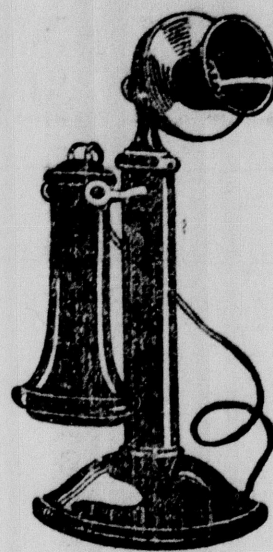

"Yes, what are you doing here?" Botts stepped forward importantly, mouthing his clear in his excitement.

Gilbert looked from one face to the other, trying to find his excuse. "I'm here trying to get evidence for you!" He walked over to Mrs. Sheldon and stood beside her, looking very knowing. He glowered at Sheldon. "What! He mopped his forehead and grinned cheerfully to himself.

Sheldon was nonplussed for the moment. Then he saw through Gilbert's ruse. He looked at Nita and saw that she was eyeing the lawyer a trifle suspiciously. It was time for him to take a hand in the action now. He felt relieved that both Helene and Myra seemed to have vanished into thin air, and he began to feel somewhat calmer. He must support Gilbert in his statement and make Nita believe that it was the truth.

"How dare you sneak into my apartment this way?" He turned wrathfully on Gilbert. "Why, this is the most outrageous thing I've ever heard of. I'll—I'll have you up for this. I'll—whether this sort of thing can be done with impunity—I'll—I'll—!" Sheldon was playing his part with a nicety.

foreman of the Grand Jury for the present term of court.

In the Court of Common Pleas yesterday, the report of viewers appointed to assess damages for land taken from the National Farm School by the Borough of Doylestown for a public park, was filed, and damages fixed at $50.

Upon payment of costs, divorces were granted in the cases of Arthur Hoagey, of Perkaskie, against Clara Ruth Hoagey, and Nina Elizabeth Green, of Bristol, against Joseph J. Green, of Bristol.

In the Court of Quarter Sessions several petitions were presented by supervisors to have township tax rates increased as follows: Nockamixon township, to levy an additional tax of three mills; Doylestown township, to levy an additional tax of five mills, making the total 15 mills; East Rockhill township, to levy an additional tax of ten mills, making the 1928 tax rate a total of 20 mills. The East Rockhill petition was opposed, and March 21 has been set as the date for the hearing in the case.

WAYNESBORO, Pa., Feb. 21 (INS).—Samuel Shockey, Beartown's fratricide and escaped convict who was ambushed and shot to death on a mountain trail near here, wandered for a week through Eastern and Central Pennsylvania before he arrived at his hiding place near here, according to his brother, Elmer Shockey.

The notorious killer escaped from a prison gang near Norristown on January 10 by fleeing from the barracks. He hid in a corn shock about a mile from the barracks the first day. Then, traveling by night, he wandered through woods and hills, avoiding the

EARLY SOWING FOR ANNUALS

To secure a full season of bloom, many annuals must be sown either in the house or in a frame to give them an early start. July 1 marks the opening of the season for annuals and from then to the close of the season they keep the garden a continual show of bloom. The old-fashioned seed box in a sunny window is a practical way, lacking a hotbed or greenhouse, to get this early start.

Any shallow box with good drainage provided by boring holes in the bottom and filled with mellow soil will serve excellently for an early seed flat. Plants that need an early start are snapdragons, stocks, petunias, verbenas, sweet peas, and cosmos. Others may be sown outdoors as soon as weather conditions permit. Sow the seed thinly even in the seed box.

Have extra boxes filled with soil ready to transplant into when the seedlings reach sufficient size so that they touch each other. By thin sowing transplanting is made easier and there is smaller loss of plants.

The soil should be sifted for the seed box and carefully leveled and firmed. A brick is excellent for this purpose. The seed is best sown in rows instead of the old-fashioned method of broadcasting it. It is easier to handle the seedlings in transplanting. Cover the box with a pane of glass and keep moist but not wet. Wipe the moisture from the glass as it accumulates so it will not drip upon the seedlings and start damping off, a fungus disease that often destroys seedlings when they are small. Remove the glass for a few moments from time to time after germination to harden the plants and to minimize the chances of damping off.

Annuals may be started in a cold frame to good advantage but this will require later sowing when the temperature has reached a point where it will not freeze the earth in the frame, usually about April 1 in the northern half of the country. The most effective use of annuals is in borders of various combinations of colors such as blue and pink, mauve and rose, orange and yellow, scarlet and orange and other color schemes.
